The Role

Kent Business School (KBS) is seeking to appoint a Teaching and Research Lecturer/Senior Lecturer in Finance to support the expansion of our Medway campus. We are looking for a dedicated scholar who is keen to make a strong contribution to teaching and research as well as our student enterprise and business engagement activities. The successful applicant will lead and contribute to the delivery of our Finance modules on both our undergraduate and postgraduate programmes. Apart from a successful teaching record, the post holder will have developed an original and productive research agenda, demonstrating the ability or clear potential to publish in internationally-ranked, peer-reviewed journals. Evidence of income generation, impactful research, scholarship, or corporate engagement is expected in the case of appointments at Senior Lecturer level. We encourage applications from educators with experience in demand-driven curriculum development, technology-enabled learning, and/or executive education and Higher and Degree Apprenticeships. We particularly encourage applications from prospective candidate whose work relates strongly to the School's mission of sustainable innovation.

While the post is based at Medway, the successful candidate may be expected to take up teaching and other responsibilities at the University's other campuses, study centres and off campus for the delivery of Higher and Degree Apprenticeships. The School offers the post holder a competitive salary, generous support for research/scholarship as well as a collegial and cohesive work environment. Colleagues are engaged and present for most of the working week to ensure time for exchange and collaboration. Colleagues on Teaching and Research contracts will benefit from comparatively moderate contact hours (typically 6-7 hours per week per term).

Our School at Medway

At Medway, Kent Business School offers undergraduate programmes in Business and Management and Finance and Investment. Both programmes offer an optional year in industry – an important feature driving significant student growth in recent years and supporting the strong focus on employability and business engagement at Medway. Kent Business School at Medway is one of the fastest growing and most dynamic ventures across the entire University. The post holder will contribute to the delivery of Finance modules in the BSc Finance and Investment programme.

In September 2018, Kent Business School at Medway introduced a number of Post-Graduate Programmes, including an MSc in Digital Marketing and Analytics, and an extended MSc in Management.

The majority of KBS staff at Medway are research active and strongly connected with the relevant subject groups at Canterbury. The School recently appointed three professors at Medway to provide leadership, and support the development of collaborative research both with colleagues in the other Schools based at Medway, and within the wider University.

Disciplinary Area

Finance at Kent Business School

Kent Business School has been delivering outstanding education in finance for the past 25 years. We combine high-quality research and rigorous teaching with real-world relevance and rank among the top 20 business schools in the UK. At undergraduate level, the School offers the newly launched BSc Finance and Investment at our Medway campus. This will be the main focus of the advertised role in terms of teaching. In addition, the Finance group runs an MSc Finance suite of programmes with pathways in Finance, Investment, and Risk; Financial Markets, International Banking and Finance, as well as Finance and Management. We also run a Dual Masters with Hong Kong Baptist University. The Finance group also contributes to the delivery of the Kent MBA as well as our BA Accounting and Finance.

KBS as a school wants to be known for leadership in sustainable innovation. Applications are welcome from applicants who can help strengthen this profile in the advertised subject. The Finance group addresses academically interesting and practical contemporary issues in finance and banking, such as international banking, bank regulation, microeconomics of banking and monetary policy, derivatives pricing and risk management; financial econometrics; corporate finance; credit risk, asset pricing and real-estate modelling. Radu Tunaru has collaboration with Robert Shiller on real-estate derivatives pricing and managing and is the director of CEQUFIN, a research centre that aims to fill the gap between academia and industry, carrying on independent studies on current issues that can serve the wider community better. Ekaterini Panopoulou is widely known for her research on social discount rates that is applied by governments across Europe and for other research on forecasting financial time series. Other research in the school covered CEO characteristics and financial stability, risk management and structured finance, valuation of real estate using neural networks, derivatives pricing using weather derivatives, efficiency and information in financial markets.

The School has the aspiration to become a leader in innovation. Our research in innovation and entrepreneurship is widely recognised. We work with collaborators and present our work at a wide range of institutions, including, among others, Aalto University, Cass Business School, Catholic University of Leuven, Copenhagen Business School, Erasmus University, Free University of Amsterdam, Harvard Business School, MIT, Northeastern University, Renmin University, and Stanford University.
